

Denver County District Court Transcript Request

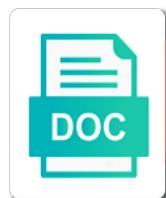

Denver, schmazing: Incredibly astoundingly, City Council has finally passed a bill that would allow the city's 12-member Council to establish a new, independent, self-governing and internally self-financed body to oversee the city's public transit system. The bill, introduced by Councilman Michael Cathcart, was passed by a 10-2 vote on Monday night.

While Cathcart remains self-governing and internally self-financed, the city's transit system will be run by a new, independent body that will be responsible for managing the city's public transit system.
